

A GREENER WORLD STARTS WITH YOU

Esime Jenaia, a Lead Farmer in Concern's conservation agriculture programme in Malawi, 2019. Photo: Kieran McConville could provide families with a 5kg bag of fortified flour for a year. This flour is normally distributed during the 'lean season'. This is when food from the last harvest has run out, but the next crops are not ready to eat. This period can sometimes last for up to five months.

€104

€240

could provide five goats. Goats are able to survive harsher climates, they're more resilient and provide great support for families and their livelihoods.

Mika Abdu cultivates courgettes, amaranth and cabbage in several vegetable sacks near his home in Niger, 2018. Photo: Darren Vaughan

GO GREEN FOR CONCERN
13 March

€320

can provide drought resistant seeds along with training for 10 farmers in vital conservation farming techniques proven to withstand extreme weather conditions.

Ltagolon Lesurmat in with one of his new Galla goats. Marsabit, in Northern Kenya 2019 Photo: Francis Mwangi

TOGETHER WE CAN CREATE A GREENER WORLD.

ENDING EXTREME POVERTY
WHATEVER IT TAKES

CONCERN
worldwide